"I recently went to a Leadership Training at Grand Canyon University. I saw a unique presentation of training a horse and relating it to coaching athletes. I have to admit I was skeptical at first, I mean really... a horse whisperer is going to have something to say about dealing with young people, especially athletes. WOW! It was one of the most impressive things I have ever witnessed. I would highly recommend this to anyone interested in making a difference in young people's lives. It was truly one of the most valuable conferences that I have ever attended.
